The following is an extract from a note from Cornersville:

"Our grasses are doing well-farmers busy planting-soil generally well prepared; by the payment of damages caused by the late wheat a failure; early looking very well; oats up and looking well. An Interesting Trial.

An interesting trial has been in progress during the term of the Circuit Court now in session at this place between the State of Tennessee and Sol. Brown, Ed. Ezell, Ben. Abernathy and Stephen Brown (men of color), on a charge of Grand Larceny. The facts elicited are substantially these: Mr. James Scruggs had fourteen hogs in a pen on the evening of the 1st of January lastnext morning, discovered that six of them were missing. He followed the tracks of the thieves to W. L. Brown's plantationfound some of the hogs-identified them, as also the felons. Had the latter arrested and brought to trial. Five able and lengthy speeches were made during the trial by Messrs. Noah and Jones, council for the State, and Messrs. Brown, McCallum and Rose for defence. Judge Ward's charge to the jury was one of unusual interest at this particular juncture, and we regret that we have not the space to give it to our readers in full.

The case was given to the jury, which brought in a verdiet of "guilty" as to Ben. Abernathy and Stephen Brown, and they pert, she by Mamburno; he by imported Messenger Bellfounder's dam was Velocity, by Hapbazard, by were sentenced to the Penitentiary for three Sir Peter, out of Miss Henry, by English Bellipse. years; and "not guilty" as to Sol. Brown and Ed. Ezell. The two latter are still trained, but he trotted a saverage to the Barlem under indictment for receiving the stolen property.

The State of East Tennessee.

Some of our exchanges are out in favor of making a seperate State out of East Tennessee. The Nashville Dispatch says that "States of a moderate size are more consonant with the theory of our government, since all foreign and even all inter-State affairs are avowedly left to the general or Federal power, and the State government has only to look after local or internal matters," and refers us to the local affairs of the smaller States of the Union as compared with those of the larger. "The very object of the State government," continues the Dispatch, "is that of strict attention to the local wants of their respective territories, is in a great measure deferred by the great size of these districts.

"Where the States are large, the different divisions, varying in geographical position, in geological structure, and consequently in products and industry, must have diversity of interests and need diversity of legislation. Now, too often does it happen that in these States one section, or one interest, prevails over another, and exerts through the State government an injurious and hated dominion. Here a powerful argument could be elaborated in favor of the general thesis that small States are far better than

This position is, in our opinion, not untennable, and the argument not without point in the ease under consideration. The interests of Middle and East Tennessee are as conflicting as those of Tennessee and any other of the Middle States can be. We are therefore decidedly in favor of Brownlow and his sattelites "setting up a little hell of their own."

The Governor's Message.

The Governor issued a special proclamation to the Legislature on the 13th. The Union and American reviews it briefly, but correctly, as follows:

"One of its leading features is a repetition of the charge of disloyalty against, three-fourths of his fellow-citizens, and of his diatribe against the lately resigning members. He does not in terms suggest was duly appreciated and liberally patron- their exclusion but very plainly says "I would if I could." He urges the passage of a stringent suffrage law, and seeks to palliate this gross infraction of republican > liberty under the worn-out plea of necessity. He urges an increase of the State debt war to "loyal" citizens. He says he knows this will be condemned, but nevertheless it is right to tax the whole of a suffering his unwarranted course in vacating by proclamation the seats of members in the House of Representatives, and makes a feeble attempt to justify it. Excepting his reference to the issue of supplies to the inmates of the State Prison, which was a humane and proper act, the message says nothing that was wise, wholesome or just, and its whole tendency is to protract and

WHAT IS IT FOR?-Hon. Ed. Cooper was recently summoned to Washington, and among other speculations as to its meaning, a 'special' to the Banner several days ago said the delegation from Tennessee was to GEN. Howard has convicted Brownlow be admitted. A later correspondent to the
